

No Action Taken By Board on Bids For New School

Trustees Waiting for Legal Opinions From Corporation
Counsel Cushman and State Education Department

Next Wednesday

Question Is Whether Board Should Proceed With Construction or Ask New Bids

No action was taken by the Board of Education at an adjourned meeting Wednesday night relative either to the awarding of contract for the new vocational school, bids for which were received at a meeting Monday evening, or for the purchase of lockers to supply the new Myron J. Michael School now under construction.

Prior to opening bids for the steel lockers for the new school building President Alfred Schmid announced that there would be no action on the awarding of the vocational school building until the board had legal opinion from both Corporation Counsel John M. Cushman and Mr. Brind of the State Department of Education who has legal matters in charge. Both Mr. Cushman and Mr. Brind are away and no opinion is expected before the first of next week. The board adjourned its meeting after opening locker bids until next Wednesday at 1 o'clock at which time it is expected opinions will be at hand as to the procedure which may be taken in the vocational training school matter.

Legal Question

When bids were opened for the erection of the building it was found the cost of construction was some $5,000 in excess of the allocation of funds which had been set aside for the building. Whether the board may proceed with the building in view of this excessive cost or whether new bids will have to be solicited, is the question on which the board seeks legal opinion.

The bids for steel lockers for the new Myron J. Michael School were opened but action on the awarding of the contract was deferred until the next meeting of the board in order that the committee might further examine the samples submitted. The motion to defer action was made by Trustee Katz.

Bids as Follows.

The following bids were received and opened:
For supplying 800 corridor lockers 9 by 12 by 60 in either green or brown finish; 150 lockers for street apparel in gym 9 by 12 by 60, and 840 lockers for gym 7 1/2 by 12 by 20 for gym clothing, as specified by Teller & Halverson, architects, the All Steel Equipment Company of New York bid $6,972.15, and for each additional corridor locker $4.95. Rosalie Completes Sentence Here But Others Want Her

Gypsy Admits Fleecing Marlborough Man—She Serves 60 Days—Three Cities
Seek Her on Charges

Rosalie S. Miller, Portsmouth, O., gypsy who was charged May 25, last, with grand larceny, second degree, for the alleged fleecing of Frank Sands, aged Marlborough man out of $110 was given a 60 day jail sentence by County Judge Frederick G. Traver in county court Wednesday afternoon when Rosalie changed her former plea of not guilty to one of guilty of petit larceny. Frank Campochiaro, who appeared for her, told the court that Rosalie had made complete restitution to the complainant and her complainant had expressed a desire that she be no longer prosecuted. District Attorney Clegg B. Murray stated to the court that under the circumstances he would agree to the acceptance of the plea to a lesser charge and Judge Traver then imposed the 60 days in jail on recommendation of Mr. Murray and also based on the fact that restitution of the money had been made.

However, Rosalie, an exceptionally charming brunette who appeared in court attired in a brilliant multi-colored dress such as is typical of the wandering nomads, was not yet out of difficulty even though since her arrest and return to Ulster county she had served the 60 days. It is charged that the larceny took place on March 11, last, and Rosalie like the money disappeared at the time. A description of the lady and the car in which she was traveling was supplied Sergeant Hulse and the State Police went to work. The defendant was apprehended some time later and brought back to Ulster county.

Taken to Harrison
On being released from jail here later Wednesday afternoon, Rosalie found three calling cards had been left with Sheriff Molyneux. The invitations were from three police departments who desired to see Rosalie. However, since the first warrant had been served by State Police from Harrison, she was taken back to Westchester county by two officers who were waiting when Rosalie walked out of jail on completion of her sentence here.

The officers held a warrant charging her with grand larceny, second degree, dated March 23, 1935, and she left in company with the two officers for White Plains for arraignment. There was also filed with Sheriff Molyneux a warrant charging grand larceny in the first degree from New York City. This warrant was dated October 1934 and there was also a third warrant dated June 1935 which charged Rosalie with jumping bail in New York. The warrant of June 2, 1935 which was issued out of Court of Common Pleas in New York had the name Catherine Colometz upon it. The charge is that the person named in the paper was Rosalie.

Court recessed until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and at that time it is expected the jurors who return that day will be excused for the day to witness the Knights Templar parade and return for criminal work on Tuesday.

New York, June 9 (AP)—Arthur T. Sullivan, manager of John L. Sullivan and other boxing matches, editor and cartoonist, died last night at 86.

Study How Much to Spend

Washington, June 9 (AP)—A Senate-House committee tried today to decide just how much should be spent for the administration of the program to improve business by spending and lending.

The committee's job was to compromise differences between the $3,723,000,000 relief and public works bill passed by the Senate and a similar $3,154,000,000 measure approved in the House.

President Roosevelt asked Congress yesterday to retain an additional $175,000,000 for WPA voted by the Senate.

Writing to Speaker Bankhead, the President said that "the unemployment outlook has not improved" since he sent Congress his request for a $1,250,000,000 WPA appropriation seven weeks ago.

The $1,250,000,000 was voted by the House to continue work relief activities for the next year.

There was a surprise ringing of wedding bells at fashionable Sands Point, L. I., when Alfred G. Young Vanderbilt, race enthusiast and owner of the great house, Discovery, met his bride during the winter racing season in California. She is the niece of Mrs. Charles S. Group of Southern Low-Cost Housing Senators Demand Gets Bi-Partisan Pay Differentials Aid in Convention

Seventeen Senators Caucus-ing Today Decide to Fight Compromise Approved
by Joint Committee

Washington, June 9 (AP)—A group of southern senators served an ultimatum on wage-hour conferees today that they would not accept such legislation without pay differentials.

Seventeen senators caucusing early today decided to fight a compromise approved by a joint congressional committee yesterday.

The compromise would provide a minimum pay scale of 40 cents an hour for interstate industry in seven years, except where it would cause unemployment.

The decision of the southerners carried a broad hint of a Senate filibuster if conferees decline to revoke their action and lift the time limit from the pay legislation.

Senator Ellender (D., La.), one of the conferees, said: "If they (the conferees) don't accept our plan there is going to be a lot of talking on the bill."

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.), the other southern senator on the conferees committee, said he would propose to the conferees that a minimum wage scale of 25 cents an hour be made effective for all interstate industry as soon as the bill becomes operative.

His proposal also would establish industry boards empowered to fix the minimum wage to be paid in each industry. These boards would be charged with increasing this minimum to 40 cents an hour as soon as "economically feasible."

There would be no requirement, as to when the 40 cent scale must be reached.

Under Pepper's proposal, the industry boards would have power to make a differential in wages within an industry. Larger units would be ordered to pay a higher minimum than the smaller ones, Pepper said.

Albany, N. Y., June 9 (AP)—Bi-partisan support of some form of amendments authorizing state and municipal grants for low-cost housing appeared assured today as the constitutional convention sought public opinion on eight varied plans.

"It is certain the convention will act to relieve the serious housing and slum clearance conditions," a Republican leader said upon this. Adoption of a housing amendment, probably embodying the best of the various proposals, will be voted if nothing else."

Principal advocates of a housing amendment before a committee hearing (1 p. m. EST) included U. S. Senator Robert F. Wagner, New Deal supporter and a Democratic convention delegate, and New York City's Republican Fusion Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia.

Wagner, hastening to Albany despite the drive for adjournment of Congress, is sponsor of a proposal designed to authorize a $200,000,000 state revolving fund from which loans to municipal housing boards could be made. La Guardia favors a measure offered by Republican delegate Harold Riegelman. New York, proposing issuance of $200,000,000 in state bonds for 50-year construction loans and rent grants to public bodies.

Other Developments.

Public airing of the proposals shared attention with these rapid developments:

(1) The convention's canal committee was reported closely divided on the question of authorizing the legislature to impose tolls on the state's large canal in the wake of a public hearing at which more than 150 witnesses expressed their opinions.

(2) The suffrage committee tabled, temporarily at least, three proposals aimed at suppression of political activity by radicals, including Rep. Hamilton Fish's (R-NY) measure to exclude from the ballot "any political party, or its counterpart, that advocates the overthrow of the republican form of government."

(3) Consideration by leaders of a plan to start daily sessions two hours earlier (9 a. m. EST) than at present, so as to provide more time for debate.

(4) Possibility of a delay until the new time schedule is effective on Democratic motives attempting to bring from committee for floor debate proposals to outlaw "unreasonable search and seizure" of private property and remove the constitutional ban on gambling.

(5) Approval of a proposed amendment designed to permit use of municipal utility plant profits for governmental expenditure as the result of lack of opposition at a public hearing.

Chinese Government Executes 400 Alleged Traitors to

Canton, June 9 (AP)—Japanese airplanes ferried their cargoes of explosives and topped them in the vicinity of Canton and neighboring railway stations today for the thirteenth consecutive day.

The raiders blasted three railway stations in the vicinity but dropped no bombs on the shattered south China metropolis, where intensive anti-aircraft fire greeted them.

The stations were Yingtak on the Canton-Hankow line, Shek-lung on the Canton-Kowloon line that feeds China war supplies from the unblockaded British port of Hongkong, and Shikwan. The Shekling bombing at 9 a. m. smashed locomotives and coaches of a train but the crew and passengers escaped.

Chinese soldiers brought their rifles into play when one of the planes flew low several times over Shamoon, the international settlement, but the thing was without effect. The pilots apparently suspected Chinese planes might be lurking about Canton to retaliate future attacks.

While the war-depleted population scanned the skies for more of the attacks which have resulted in more than 8,000 killed and wounded since May 28, it was reported unofficially that Canton authorities in recent weeks executed 400 alleged traitors, including Formosans and Koreans.

Uprising Thwarted

A large quantity of hand grenades was said to have been seized and an internal uprising thwarted. One theory advanced was that Japan's savage bombing attacks were the result of the thwarted plot, though military authorities viewed the raids as an effort to paralyze the South China center of rail communications and halt the flow of munitions to the Chinese front.

Twenty-five planes which struck at the city last night in the last of three attacks yesterday set huge fires blazing from incendiary bombs near the Asia Hotel and across the river from the international quarter.

The principal objective appeared to be an old power plant, the city's chief reliance for light. The main power station had been put out of commission by a concentration of bombs in previous raids.

But the Canton-Hankow railway, another of the principal objectives, apparently was still in operation despite almost complete destruction of the Wongsha station.

Among industrial plants destroyed during the attacks which

Work Goes Along On New Salem Road Ruined by Slide

Work is being pushed on the repairs to the county road at the old Diamond Ice house site on the St. Remy-New Salem road in the town of Esopus where several days ago a section of the old causeway collapsed plunging the road to the ravine below. Since then the road has been closed by orders of the County Superintendent and persons residing in New Salem who desire to get to the Eddyville road must make the trip by way of the Port Ewen station road.

Asked as to what caused the collapse of the causeway, County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran said it was impossible to tell but it was presumed the old dry wall which had supported the causeway for perhaps a hundred years had collapsed causing the road surface to slide out.

The damage was done some time during the night and fortunately no one was injured at the time.

A solid foundation for the footings and new side walls will be laid up and rock and earth fill will be placed upon which the macadam surface will be laid.

The narrow short section will be widened out and the Eddyville side approaches will be flared to eliminate a dangerous condition which came about years ago when the new Eddyville bridge was erected and the old bridge was made. Prior to the bridge approach to the Eddyville bridge was over the causeway and to the left past the old stone house to the bridge which was considerably lower than the present structure.

Five Killed on French Ship, Brisbane, Including Non-intervention Committee Member

Denla, Spain, June 9 (AP)—The British freighter Isadora and the French freighter Brisbane were bombed today in separate insurgent air raids in government-held Mediterranean seaports.

Five persons were killed, including an observer for the European non-intervention committee, in the raid on the Brisbane by a lone bomber outside this harbor. Ten others were injured, four gravely.

Denla is 20 miles south of Ganda, the British-owned port which was bombed yesterday.

The Isadora was struck in her engine room about midnight in the harbor of Castellon De La Plana and was believed to have been put out of commission. There was no casualties, however, aboard the Isadora.

The Brisbane was set afire about the same time and still was burning at 11:30 a. m. today. It was feared she would sink.

The French ship, of 1,001 tons and loaded with fertilizer, was at anchor in the Denla harbor when the air raid struck.

The plane dumped four bombs on the ship and then sprayed her decks with machine gun fire.

Aided by Destroyer

A French destroyer at Valencia aided by the Brisbane's assistance and quickly reached her side. The French consul at Valencia came to Denla by automobile to investigate.

All the seamen killed were French. Some of the victims were hit by machine gun bullets. One of the most seriously injured was the Brisbane's master, Captain R. Gurnol.

The non-intervention agent was said to have been a Briton named Jones.

The Isadora was damaged previously in an air raid on Valencia April 25.

After the bombing of the Brisbane her entire crew was taken off.

An eyewitness said the raider was a monoplane which flew just over the ship's masts in the moonlight. Heavy machine gun bullets rang repeatedly against the Brisbane's plates after incendiary bombs were dropped, forcing all to take cover.

The raider finally abandoned the attack and flew off to the south. It machine-gunned a launch off Cape Llanos, injuring a sailor.

Poughkeepsie Paper

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 9 (AP)—The Poughkeepsie Evening Star and Enterprise today announced an increase in its home delivery charges effective next Monday from 18 to 20 cents weekly and in its per copy price from 2 to 4 cents. The increase is necessary, its announcement said, because of added costs of newspaper production.

Hines Hearing Opens Today

New York, June 9 (AP)—A hearing to determine whether James J. Hines, accused of being the political front for a $100,000,000 political racket, will be given a change of venue today before State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora.

Meanwhile the grand jury which indicted him was in adjournment until Monday. Grand jurors called four other Tammany political figures yesterday in their inquiry into the operation of the numbers syndicate once run by the late "Dutch" Schultz, slain gangster.

Hines asked that his trial be held at least 100 miles from Manhattan on the grounds adverse publicity has prejudiced residents in Manhattan borough and decried anyone connected with Tammany Hall.

The veteran politician and one-time blacksmith, a Democratic power in Harlem for years, co-defendant with J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, attorney for the late Dutch Schultz and eight others charged Miami, Fla., June 9 (AP)—The body of kidnapped James Bailey Cash, Jr., was found three minutes after midnight today a mile from his home at Princeton.

With the gruesome discovery, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents disclosed they recovered the entire $10,000 ransom yesterday and that the kidnaper suspect had been in custody for a week.

The prisoner was Franklin Pierce McCall, 21, truck driver, minister's son and former tenant of the Cash apartment house. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, announced he had confessed writing the three ransom notes and collecting the money, but made no admission as to further participation.

State Attorney George A. Weir moved immediately, however, to have a special grand jury called for next Monday to return an indictment.

McCall Unemotional

Sheriff D. C. Coleman said McCall, without any show of emotion, led Hoover and a squad of agents to the dense thicket where the dead boy had been left, with out an effort at burial. Little remained but the skeleton and fragments of the pajamas, the five-year-old boy-head was when he was seized from his bed May 25.

When it was explained what condition the body was in, the boy's father decided not to look at it. Friends of the family said they planned an early, private funeral.

It was McCall who directed Cash's attention to the third ransom note two nights after the abduction, saying he found it on the floor of Cash's apartment and that the kidnaper apparently had slipped it under the door.

McCall Arrested

Sheriff Coleman, suspicious because the note had been wedged into a ball, arrested McCall June 1. After questioning he was released, with G-Men shadowing him. The following day he joined the volunteer possemen hunting for clues over the very ground where the body and the ransom were hidden. That night authorities picked him up again and he has been held ever since in a detention cell at the FBI office atop a downtown skyscraper.

There he could be protected from violence, but Princeton received the news the case had been "broken" without any great stir. McCall's wife and her mother had left town and their whereabouts were not disclosed.

Billion 'Hoppers' Threaten Farmers In Southwest Area

Springer, N. M., June 9 (AP)—Grasshoppers by the billion were on the march in the deep southwest and Rocky Mountain region today, threatening farmer and stockman with ruin.

Pitted against a fantastic insect menace to millions of acres of farm and grazing lands were hundreds of men and machines, fighting a desperate war against seemingly countless "hopper" hordes.

National guard detachments moved into infested areas in northeastern New Mexico and the Texas panhandle today, where Colorado, Oklahoma, Montana and Wyoming farmers and government agencies mobilized their resources against the pest.

Also in Wyoming, Montana, Utah and Idaho, the grasshopper threat was over shadowed by the Mormon crickets, destructive and equally voracious cousin of the "hopper."

In New Mexico, where scores of poison mixing plants have been working day and night for two weeks, the dreaded migratory movement of the "hoppers" was under way.

In Union county and northern Colfax county, crawling insect armies were on the move overland as crews of weary CCC enrollees, farmers and stockmen dumped poison by the ton to check the migration.

Fighting forces moved at top speed against the impending zero hour when the grasshoppers cease to crawl and take wing. Once in the air, their destructive attack on range and crops cannot be checked.

PROPERTY RIGHTS

One of the fallacies believed in by many intelligent Americans is that property rights are absolute. Even some lawyers have seemed to hold that notion, in spite of their legal study and practice.

As a matter of fact, property rights seem to be merely relative. The community, functioning as "the state," may take property for a public purpose by right of "eminent domain," whether the owner agrees or not—for a fair compensation, of course, as determined by courts. The state may also take property without compensation, and often does so, by process of taxation. Let any owner stop paying his taxes, and see how long the property remains his. There has been much misconception even about corporate rights, although the business corporation is plainly a creature of the state, and incorporation is a privilege, subject to control through state laws.

"For more than a generation," observed Walter Lippmann in the New York Tribune, "a reaction has been under way against the nineteenth-century notion that the right of private property was absolute. This reaction is reflected in conservation policies in regard to natural resources, zoning laws in regard to urban property, the limitation of franchises to monopolies and the regulation of patents. These developments do not strike at the right of private property, but they do strike at the notion that private property is an absolute right rather than a system of rights and duties defined by law, and enforceable only because it rests on law."

In short, all property rights might be regarded as privileges guaranteed by society under certain conditions—not as necessarily "sacred".

OUT—AND BACK

A wheel may seem to have as its outstanding characteristic the fact that it is alike all the way around. But when it is an automobile steering wheel, it isn't. That is to say, it is dangerous to drive with one or even both hands resting on the lower half of the wheel. One hand, at least, should always be ready on the upper half. Both halves of the wheel itself may be alike, but not so the relation of the driver's muscles to the act of steering.

Another point not always understood by drivers used to flat country is that when they go down long hills it is better to snub the brake, lift it, and snub and lift again than to keep the brake on the wheel for long at a time. The first method not only gives better control but prevents overheating of the brake bands.

Another thing that a plains dweller needs to know when planning a trip is that no matter how wildly fast the hill folk seem to be driving—and they all pass him and zip around curves at rates which make his hair stand on end—the fact remains that he cannot get so far in a day as he thinks he can. The distance on the map is one thing—the up and down stuff is something else.

The hill man, too, has something to learn. When he is on the long straight road through the flat country, he is tempted to let 'er out too far. True, he can see the road ahead and all that. But he forgets that the fellows coming in from sideroads and farm lanes come in at a good rate, too. The flat distances deceive him. In other words, the whole motoring tribe is learning that it pays to be a little careful, a little courteous, a little tolerant of the other fellow's terrain and point of view. We can all learn something by travel into strange parts. Let's go! Let's learn! Let's come back safe and happy!

NO CONCESSION TO FASCISM

Thomas Mann, the exiled German author, seems to be regarded by general consent as the world leader of liberalism and humanism. What he thinks and says is therefore important to Americans, who today stand as the strongest representatives of this way of life. He maintains that democracy must make no concessions whatever to Fascism; that if frightened capitalism does so, in time it will be crushed.

The experience of Italy and Germany seems to prove him right. Both have been changing more and more to a rigid regime of state socialism, which destroys economic and personal freedom along with political freedom. His doctrine is best expressed in his own words: "If democracy is going to stand up against Fascism, there must be no mistake as to the evilness of the new thing that has entered the world. The danger of democracy is the humane illusion that this new thing can be dealt with by understanding, by generous concession. That is a dangerous error. Democracy and Fascism inhabit different planets. If Fascism gets one concession from democracy, if democracy yields only one point, Fascism will seize the opportunity and consider that yielding tantamount to abdication."

SODAS FOR GOODNESS

A druggist in a New Jersey town did not like the noise and scuffling of a few unruly youngsters outside his store. He had a noble idea. He would improve the conduct of all youngsters by offering an ice cream soda to every youngster who got A in deportment in school. He did and they were good. So good that on the afternoon the report cards were given out he gave free sodas to 110 public and 40 parochial school children. He ran out of ice cream, out of soda, out of straws, and still they kept on coming.

But the druggist is game. He is going to stand by his offer until school closes. Perhaps next fall he can think of some incentive to virtue which will be a little easier on his soda counter. The news story incidentally mentions the fact that the gentleman had no children of his own. Parents could have guessed that.

We're getting behind with our terminology. How about the international axis in this hemisphere, which is getting slightly warped?

The silk worms will have to work awful hard, for an awful long time, to pay for that Japanese adventure in China.

Most of the employment lately seems to be in politics.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
OPERATION WILL NOT DO THE IMPOSSIBLE
 One of the jokes about physicians and surgeons, common a few years ago, was about the workman who had badly injured his right arm and fingers. As he was about to undergo "the anaesthetic" he asked the surgeon if he would be able to play the piano after the arm and hand were repaired, to which the surgeon unwittingly answered "Yes".

"That's great," said the patient, "because I never could play the piano."

I sometimes think that many patients about to undergo operation expect the operation will make them entirely new men and women, forgetting that perhaps they never have been ruzged, and also may have been ill or ailing for months before operation was decided upon as a last resort.

Thus an old or chronic case of ulcer of stomach or intestine, a chronic irritable gall bladder, or the so-called chronic appendicitis, may have the patient down so low physically that operation is the last resort and even if the operation is successful in itself, there is not, perhaps never was much strength of body or resistance to be restored.

What is called constitutional inadequacy—not having a body that is adequate or equal to the strains of life—is now receiving more attention from physicians throughout the world, and fortunately or unfortunately, is also receiving the attention of rulers who have in mind trying to put their peoples in the best possible condition for purposes of war and defence.

We do not all start off equally in physical strength or resistance to disease. Some of us have the slender body—more prone to tuberculosis and stomach ulcers, others have the heavy body—more prone to heart, liver, gall bladder, blood vessel and kidney ailments. Besides this there is the wear and tear of life which makes its impressions or scars upon our strength and resistance.

The thought then for patients (and perhaps sometimes for surgeons also) is to think of present conditions of health or of the health condition for weeks or months previous and compare it with what can reasonably be expected from operation for, as Dr. Walter Alvarez, M.D., writes in his book, "You can't transform a greyhound into a bulldog by any operation."

HOW IS YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE?

Is it high? Is it low? Do you know what may be causing the conditions? Do you know what precautions to take in either case? Send today for this interesting booklet by Dr. Barton, entitled "How Is Your Blood Pressure?" (No. 108) which discusses this timely subject in an interesting and helpful manner. Enclose ten cents for each copy to cover cost of service and handling and send your request to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., mentioning the name of this newspaper.

Octagon House

BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The story so far: Assey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, is investigating the murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office mural has aroused Quonomet. She was killed by a left-handed blond from her sister's knife. Assey knows Pam Frye is innocent, as well as Tim Carr, boarder at the Frye's Octagon House. Marina was married to Tim, unknown to Jack Lorne, and also had played around with Roddy Strutt, who is now being "menaced." Then the barn burns down, and Tim and Assey are knocked out in the woods, and Pam's father is found unconscious in the Lorne's cottage. The problem uppermost in Assey's mind is a $50,000 lump of ambergis Pam found the day of the murder. Pam hid it in the coal bin, and her father moved it to the barn.

Chapter 30

Assey's Opinion

"DID Aaron hear anyone in the house when he came to?" Dr. Cummings asked.

"He didn't hear anything or anyone," Assey said, "until Pam called him. He didn't have a watch, and the time element's all confused. He must have been out for a good while, though."

"How'd he get the ambergis into the barn?"

"Believe it or not," Pam said, "he just casually wheeled it there yesterday morning."

"He didn't," Cummings said.

"He did," Assey assured him. "Same order of things as my paint-in' an' puttyin' yesterday. With troopers to the right of him an' troopers to the left of him, he wheeled it out to the barn in an offhand manner—it was still covered up with the tarpaulin—an' dumped it into an old zinc lined feed bin. The cops didn't say a word. Aaron was bein' open an' aboveboard, an' they was sort of losin' interest in doggin' his footsteps by then anyway, an' Hanson was away at the time. That's how that happened."

"And Assey doesn't think that the ambergis was in the barn when it burned," Pam said. "Of course, that particular bin was near the door, and I suppose it would be the first thing anyone would look into—but here, Assey. If the person who fired the barn actually had looked around beforehand, he'd have found the ambergis right off the bat! And then there wouldn't have been any need of burning the barn at all, unless—"

"No," Assey said. "He looked around, an' couldn't find it so he burned the barn in order to get to the point out."

"Listen, Assey," Pam said. "Take it slowly. Get the whole picture. I put the stuff in the coal bin. Father finds it, and has a fanciful notion that it'll be safer in the barn. So he takes it there. Someone wants to know where the ambergis is. You claim that they looked around the barn the first time they did any hunting at all, they certainly found it in the bin. And if they didn't hunt for it, then it just got burned up."

"They looked for it," Assey repeated, "an' they didn't find it, so they set the barn on fire to see if—"

"If they didn't find the ambergis in the bin," Pam interrupted, "where in heaven's name was it, Assey? You just aren't makin' sense!"

"Sure I am," Assey said. "Your father put it in the bin. But someone moved it from the bin after your father put it there, an' before the person who fired the barn began his huntin'. That's clear, ain't it?"

"Assey Mayo, do you mean that there's more than one person after this ambergis?"

"I'm sort of beginnin' to think, Assey admitted in a characteristic understatement, "that maybe perhaps there possibly might be."

Barn Burner Or Biffer?

"Two?" Cummings said. "Two?"

"Two people, or two sets," Assey said. "Maybe more. Probably more. I wouldn't know. That's what I been wrestlin' with in my mind. I think the fellow that fired the barn ain't the one that hid the ambergis, an' Aaron an' me. The barn burner uses his head. The biffer seems to be a violent sort of lad. The barn burner—"

"You certainly can't call him any quiet shrinkin' violet!" Pam interrupted. "And after all, Aaron isn't one of the gentler crimes!"

"I know. But I think the person that burned the barn hunted through it first, and then waited around to see if his burnin' theory worked out. N'en I think he called it a day, an' left. N'en I think that someone else carried on the violent part, biffin' your father before the fire, an' Tim an' me after it. An'—"

"And what about those two troopers, O'Malley and what's his name?" Cummings asked.

Assey shrugged. "No one knows. Hanson's tried to solve that one right now. Praps they landed up with the violent gen, praps they didn't. They're not within a mile of this place, anyway. It's been looked over again this morning."

"Listen," Pam said. "I've got another idea. Suppose someone found the ambergis in the bin, removed it, and then fired the barn to make us think the ambergis was burned up in it. What about that side, Assey?"

"I thought of it, but I don't like it," Assey told her. "If he'd have swiped it, he'd have beaten it and not passed for the fire to call attention to things. Firin' the barn then might of lost him too much time, and of course, how an' when could anyone of got the ambergis away, with that mob in the woods, later."

"Perhaps that's why Shorty and O'Malley are missing. Perhaps they saw the man take it away, and perhaps they went after it."

"Wait an' let me get straightened out," Cummings said. "Aaron put it in the barn. Someone else—call him B—removes it. Someone else—call him C—hunts for it, an' can't find it, an' so he burns the barn. And now you think there's still another person, D, who's responsible for the violent biffings that went on. Well, that leaves you with three people, or one person three times, or—oh, it's beyond me! And suppose the ambergis was taken from the barn—where was it taken to?"

"Not very far," Assey said. "And who did it?" Pam demanded. "Who is this B, and who's C, and who's D? Who are they?"

"Who," Assey returned, "did your sister Marina tell about the ambergis before she was killed?"

"I don't think Marina told a soul," Pam insisted. "I truly don't. She was out to get that for herself. And supposin' that she did tell someone. She and the person would have teamed up and whisked it off long before I got over there to the garage at ten-thirty. And—"

"Wait," Cummings said. "Wait another second. Suppose for the sake of the argument that Marina told someone about the ambergis, and suppose the person decided to get it for himself. And with the ambergis as a motive, suppose they killed Marina, and—"

"Good An' Thwarted!"

"YOU can stop supposin' right there," Pam said. "If someone killed her for the ambergis, why in the world didn't they take it after they killed her, Friday night? Why did they leave it for me?"

How do you know they did leave it for you? Assey asked.

"You left it in the garage because you didn't have any way of removing it. It's perfectly possible that the person who killed Marina was in the same position. You've hunted ambergis all your life, but you never thought about transportation problems. Marina could have been killed for the ambergis, and the person could of been stumped on the transportation angle just the same way. Now, let's suppose—"

"No," Cummings said, "don't let's suppose. Let's stop supposin'. I can suppose up to a certain point beautifully, but from there on into higher mathematics, my mind doesn't function. And my mind's had enough. Except just this—suppose that the person who killed Marina was in the same position. You've hunted ambergis all your life, but you never thought about transportation problems. Marina could have been killed for the ambergis, and the person could of been stumped on the transportation angle just the same way. Now, let's suppose—"

Sundown Stories

Talking It Over

"NOW," said Willy Nilly, "you'll return to your nest while we talk it over. We'll call you when we want you."

Christopher Columbus Crow flew back to his nest, and as he flew he heard one of the ducks saying:

"He should be hushed from Puddle Muddle."

Christopher went to his nest and sat down in a heap. It seemed to him as though the end of everything had come. Would they, could they banish him from Puddle Muddle? Would they give him such a punishment? Could they treat him so harshly?

And yet Christopher knew how they felt. Here he had tricked them in the first place. He had made them think there was hidden treasure in the bottom of the pond and they had dug and dug and dug for it. They had upset their pond, worn themselves out, and he had never known of any treasure at all.

They had forgiven him for this because they had found the gold watch. It was only by accident, though, that they had found it. He was not responsible for their good fortune. Yes, they had forgiven him because they had been so happy to have found such a gift for Willy Nilly, but now they would remember that it had been their good luck and not through any help of his. In fact he hadn't even helped in the digging. He hadn't believed they would find anything!

He had ruined Willy Nilly's watch. That was too much. But would they banish him from Puddle Muddle? He would not try to be in the world if he couldn't be a Puddle Muddler. His strong, brave wings and chest were wet with tears.

Tomorrow—"Christopher's Pic."

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Those who lament the humdrum existence of our mechanized waterfront today should take up a position on South Street, or anywhere along the East river, and watch the old lunkers come in. The East river docks are the last stronghold of romantic shipping, in the metropolitan area at least, for it is there that the barnacled old hulks of freighters and tankers, fruit boats and others, show up every day. Their arrivals aren't listed in the shipping news as those of the big liners are listed.

When the Queen Mary docks, that is news. When the Normandie is warped into a Hudson waterfront pier, it makes headlines. The passengers are photographed and interviewed; the captain has something to say about his crossing; and everybody goes aboard and gives parties.

But on East river, which actually means "the other side of the tracks," it's a different story. Not long ago a whaler came in after two years in Polar waters. Her crew was bearded and gaunt, itching to touch dry land. But there wasn't a word about her in the papers or in the radio reports.

ON SUNDAY days a section of East river might be any Mediterranean port, with swarthy Portuguese, blond Norwegians, olive-skinned Italians, dark-eyed Spaniards, and Germans uttering hearty "jas," rolling ashore in that sea-blown gait peculiar to sailors everywhere. There are Lascars and Scots and Irishmen and Russians. But for me the banana boats from the hot climes are the most fascinating. They smell good. They give up a cargo of golden fruit and the whole waterfront, for a little while, seems perfumed with some breath from the tropics, exotic and exhilarating.

You half expect a parrot to leap up on the railing and scream angrily. Sometimes one does. Sailors still are great ones for pets.

FOR five cents you can get an armload of ripe bananas, if you know the right dock, and can get there at just the right time. And ripe bananas are the only bananas that are good eating. They should be mellow and speckled and aromatic. They should be soft and flaky.

One of the waterfront's most colorful figures is Captain Larsen, master of a freighter that plies between New York and a couple of Texas ports, with a stop-off at New Orleans. He is a grizzled, weather-beaten but hearty old coddger who has been making this run for 15 years. From time to time I have been invited to take the run with him, a voyage lasting a couple of weeks, and this summer I'm going to take him up on it.

Shokan heights.

Rifton 4-H Play One of 3 To Be Given at Ithaca

Love of popularity has put many a man out of the running.

Mr. and Mrs. had just returned from church service.

Mrs.—Did you notice the new hat Mrs. Brown had on today?

Mr.—No, I'm afraid I was dozing a little.

Mrs.—Huh? A lot of good the service did you.

Around the Corner.

A loved one walked away from me. I watched him in his flight. Until he turned a corner—and his form was lost to sight.

Though far beyond my vision's reach, I knew he traveled on. I didn't fear he'd stopped—because from my sight he had gone.

A loved one journeyed life's long street, and he, too, made a turn.

The lane he chose is known as death—a path we all must learn.

I have no reason to suspect he stopped; for—you'll agree—Activities go on each day, 'round curves—where we can't see.

—Lyla Myers

Fred—What happened when the fellow threw a bottle at the umpire yesterday?

Jake—The umpire didn't mind it, he used to be a glass eater in a circus.

It's too late to give the country back to the Indians, they wouldn't take it.

It was Mary Jane's first day at school and the teacher was asking some questions for the records.

Teacher—Are you the oldest in your family?

Mary Jane—No, Mother is quite a bit older than I am.

Read It Or Not.

When Walt Disney first decided to do "Snow White" he auditioned a number of singers—including a very young girl who possessed an unusual voice and who resembled Disney's depiction of Snow White.

The applicant studied the songs, appeared at the auditions—but for some unexplained reason she wasn't selected for the job.

The young girl now is thankful that she didn't get that coveted assignment. Because she then devoted those years—during which she otherwise would have remained anonymous—to other pursuits which have become more profitable.

Her name is Deanne Durbin—Leonard Lyons, in New York World.

He had got a job as a collector for a gas company.

Manager—Take this master key and go round and empty all the coin boxes, get all the quarters.

Three weeks later he walked into the office.

Collector—Can I have another key? I've lost the other one.

Manager—Certainly! But where have you been all this time? The cashier has stayed here late every Friday night, expecting you to come for your wages.

Collector (bawling broadly)—Great guns! Do I get wages as well?

Minister—I cannot understand why so many of our congregation go straight from the church to the cafe.

Lively Assistant—Oh, that's what is known as 'thirst after righteousness.'

The Moose Feature Syndicate, Greensboro, N. C.

Edmund R. Bower, Ulster county 4-H Club agent and the members of the 4-H Clubs of the county are jubilant over the announcement Tuesday that an Ulster county club play had been selected as one out of three in the entire state to be given at Ithaca during the 4-H Club Congress to be held there June 26 to 30.

The winning play is "Flittermouse," a comedy sponsored by the Rifton Club, one of the outstanding clubs in the county.

Miss Anna Devine, Rifton 4-H leader, selected the play and coached the cast, composed of the following Rifton people: LeRoy Davis, Sophia Palkowitz, Augustine Pavier, Audrey Kidd.

Each spring the 45 4-H club counties in the state participate in play contests. In Ulster county 15 plays were produced by four clubs—Rifton, Modena, Clintonville and Rosendale. Rifton won the county contest, then the eastern district contest, held at Cornwall-on-Hudson, at which time it was selected as one of six "blue ribbon" plays in the state and now comes word that it is one of the three out of the six to be honored with a trip to Ithaca.

BLOOMINGTON

Bloomington, June 8—Mr. and Mrs. Ward and son, Elmer, of Modena spent one evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. M. Don.

Miss Nellie Coulant of Creek Locks spent Monday with Miss Neal Hotelling.

Mrs. Lester Newell and daughter, Evelyn, of Lake Katrine attended the Smith-Nelson wedding in the church here on Sunday.

Miss Florence Relyea who has been visiting her nephew Gordon Relyea in Annapolis, Md., returned in her home one day last week.

Charles Relyea, the new postmaster has stocked his store with a fine assortment of groceries, ice cream and soda.

Sunday morning services at 9:15 a. m. The pastor, the Rev. C. W. Bedford will bring the message. Sunday school at 11:15 o'clock. John C. Henderson, superintendent. Evening services at 8 o'clock. Everyone welcome to these services.

Mid-week services: Young People's on Thursday evening, at 8:45.

GRANGE NEWS

Lake Katrine.

Lake Katrine, June 8.—The regular meeting of the Grange was held Monday evening with 25 members present. Daniel Morehouse presided and introduced Clarence Johnson, superintendent of schools, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Bowers of Kingston.

Miss Dorothy Briggs of Mt. Marion was a visitor. Mrs. Fred Kukuk, lecturer, presented the program as follows:

Song, "Sifting," Grange. Reading, "Duties of Flora," Miss Kotterson. Piano solo, "Rose Dreams," Mrs. Donald Parrish.

Guessing game, with names of flowers, Mrs. William Hooker. Poem, "What Is So Rare As a Day in June," by different members reciting from memory.

Poem, "Legend of Flora," by Elizabeth Arthur, former state lecturer, read by Mrs. J. Dedrick.

Reading, "Lars," negro dialect, read by Mrs. George Sallie, in costume.

Song, "Bud and Bloom," Grange. The May committee, with Mrs. Frank Brink, chairman, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. James Gaddis, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Brink, Mrs. Olive Churchill and Katherine Shells, turned over $26.32.

The June committee, with Mr. and Mrs. Pratt Boice, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Boice, Miss Olive Boice, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Boice, Mrs. Frank Enlist, and George and Charles Taylor, are working with the May committee.

The service and hospitality committee is arranging a "clean up day" at the hall on Thursday, June 16. Anyone willing to help is requested to call up Mrs. W. Hooker. Supper will be served and the degree team will meet in the evening for rehearsal.

Third and fourth degrees will be conferred at the next meeting on June 20.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served. A special table was decorated for the candidates and Mr. and Mrs. George Sallie, Mrs. Sallie, who has been an active and interested member and served as lecturer for two years was presented with a shower of gifts in appreciation of her loyalty and service.

Mr. Sallie has held the office of master of Ashury Grange and is now serving on the executive board of that Grange and Pomona. To them are extended the congratulations and best wishes of our community.

Plattekill
Regular meeting of Plattekill Grange will be held in the Grange Hall in Thursday evening, June 9.

Neighbors night will be celebrated on that evening by Plattekill Grange, who will be host to a neighboring Grange. Once each year Plattekill Grange sets aside an evening during which it entertains another Grange. These evenings are most enjoyable and it is hoped that a majority of Plattekill's members will be present to entertain the guests and enjoy the evening.

The common green cabbage worm is apparently increasing in abundance in New York State and is giving cabbage and cauliflower growers some concern, say entomologists at the Experiment Station at Geneva, who are recommending the use of derris dust as an effective means of control, especially where objections are raised to the use of the usual arsenical sprays and dusts.

On the business train, the successful man always rides in the cab with his hand on the throttle; the failures will be found on the back platform with their feet on the rail.

Good-Morning Busy Bride-to-Be

Can I help out? I'm sorry I can't run in to offer my assistance during these busy, happy days; but with showers, teas, parties and what-not, you probably find yourself "out" more of the time than you are "in." I've no doubt but that the wedding cake is made and aging—ready to be wrapped and tied with the bridal colors. But it's not too late to offer a couple of suggestions with regard to this operation, perhaps. Be sure the knife with which you cut the cake has a wide blade and is very, very sharp; for the fruits will tear if it is not. To make the pieces uniform, use a heavy cardboard pattern of a size which will cut the cake with the least waste.

Why not wrap the cake in cellophane paper? It's transparent, glossy, easy to fold and tie, and will not absorb grease. Colored cellophane cord may be used to tie it.

You, of course, know that the wedding cake, while prepared and given away by the bride, is really known as the groom's cake because it is dark and contains fruits. The bride's cake is always white or light and may be ornately decorated or not. The Orange Blossom Cake illustrated on this page will serve very well for the bride's cake and is so light and feathery, half the guests will want the recipe, I'm sure.

On the cake illustrated, I used orange-colored gumdrops—the tiny little peaked ones, as well as the gumdrop orange slices. These are very effective, add a contrasting color note and lend a bit of flavor to the cake. And since I was using orange flavor as the garnish on top, I made an orange filling to put between the layers, although the icing recipe given below will make plenty for both between the layers and on top.

While I've been talking about brides, this cake is not intended for serving only as a part of wedding festivities. You'll find it much admired if served at a shower, reception, birthday party or just as a family dessert. I'm also giving you the recipe for the Lemon Frozen Cream shown in the illustration.

ORANGE BLOSSOM CAKE

2 3/4 cups all-purpose flour, 2 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon soda, 3/4 cup shortening, 1 3/4 cups granulated sugar, 3 eggs, separated, 1 1/2 teaspoons grated orange rind, 1 cup orange juice and 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Sift first four ingredients together. Cream shortening and add sugar gradually, beating until fluffy. Then add egg yolks, one at a time, beating after each.

addition. Mix in grated orange rind and juice alternately with sifted dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Beat egg whites until stiff; but not dry and fold into batter. Add flavoring, pour into three 8-inch greased layer cake pans and bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 35 minutes.

MARSHMALLOW FROSTING

2 3/4 cups granulated sugar, 1/2 cup cold water, 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 3 egg whites, 1 1/2 cups quartered soft marshmallows, 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract.

Put first four ingredients in top of double boiler and mix well. Place over boiling water and beat with rotary beater for about 7 minutes or until thick. As frosting begins to thicken, add marshmallows and continue cooking until thick. Remove from heat and add flavoring. Beat until almost cold, or until frosting holds its shape, then spread.

LEMON FROZEN CREAM

2 eggs, beaten until lemon-colored, and 1/2 cup granulated sugar. Add sugar gradually to egg until mixture becomes of a thick custard-like consistency. Then combine with 1/2 cup light corn syrup, 2 cups top milk or 1 cup milk and 1 cup coffee cream, 1/4 cup lemon juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel.

Freeze in refrigerator tray at lowest temperature until stiff. When frozen, remove to a bowl and whip with an electric or hand beater until light and creamy. Return quickly to freezing tray and continue freezing until stiff. Hold at middle control for serving.

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/4 cup cold water, 1/2 cup boiling water, 6 level tablespoons cocoa or 2 squares chocolate, 4 eggs, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Soak gelatin in cold water about five minutes. Mix boiling water and cocoa or chocolate until smooth. Add softened gelatin to hot chocolate mixture and stir until dissolved. Add egg yolks, slightly beaten, one-half cup sugar, salt and vanilla. Cool, and when mixture begins to thicken, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites to which other one-half cup sugar has been added. Fill baked pie shell or make a graham cracker pie crust and fill. Chill. Just before serving, top with whipped cream.

GRAHAM CRACKER PIE CRUST

1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs, 1/2 cup superfine powdered sugar, 1/2 cup butter, scant. Crush graham crackers and mix with butter and sugar. Pat mixture firmly into pie pan. Place in refrigerator or cold place for several hours, then fill and chill.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coates

HOLLYWOOD—They said it. It was on the drawing boards, so this week's major picture offerings—three of them—were lyrical through and through. "Cocacola Grove," a pleasantly tuneful film which starts out dully enough and then suddenly picks up interest and builds from there rather steadily. The pick-up occurs, I believe, with the introduction of a catchy piece called "Says My Heart," sung by Harry Hilliard and played in a trailer camp setting—by Harry Owens and his Royal Hawaiian Orchestra, which makes mighty good music.

The story asks you to care whether a run-down orchestra led by Fred MacMurray ever goes across country to try out for the Los Angeles night spot which gives the film its title. Strangely, because the music is so good and most of the specialties engaging, I found myself caring enough to be interested.

MacMurray sings "You Leave Me Breathless," breathlessly but acceptably. Ben Blue and Eve Arden do comedy dances. Rufe Davis works in some imitations and songs, and the Yacht Club Boys fill in any gaps. Little Billy Lee on the traps is a high spot. Alfred Santell's direction, like the picture, is good when it gets under way.

More Girls And Gags
In "Cocacola Grove," one dance orchestra tries to impersonate another and is foiled; the intended victim being the hero's band. In "Gold Diggers in Paris" one dance troupe impersonates another and gets away with it, unethically but satisfactorily if, as you're supposed to be, you're on the hero's side.

The new "Gold Diggers," like its predecessors, is a combination of girls, gags, specialties and tunes in a story that doesn't matter much anyway. Some of its humor is strained, most of it depends on the able rescue work of Hugh Herbert, Allen Jenkins, Melville Cooper, Fritz Feld, Ed Brophy and Curt Bois, all spotted in supporting roles. Also loudly present is the Schnickelfritz band, hot, corny and comic.

Vallee Funny

Rudy Vallee, singing as usual, a little less wooden than usual in his acting, very funny in his imitation of Chevalier, is the hero, in love with Rosemary Lane. When Glenda Dickson, the heavy, is on the screen you can forget Rudy and his gang and watch a girl who ought to get better assignments than this one. (She had one, remember, in "They Won't Forget.") Ray Enright directed, with Busby Berkeley doing the dances. Zippest tune: "I Wanna Go Back to Bali."

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, June 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Schrader of Jackson Heights, L. I., spent Sunday in Woodstock en route to Round Top for a week's visit. While here they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schrader.

Marsden London is spending a few weeks here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank London.

A business meeting of the Woodstock Gardeners will be held at the home of Miss Anita Smith on June 10 at 5 p. m.

On Saturday from 4 to 8 p. m., a strawberry festival will be held at the Dutch Reformed Church by the young people of the church. Strawberry shortcake and home made strawberry ice cream will be special dishes.

Ant-eaters can live for long periods without food.

THE MEN LISTENED

Rep. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey had her say in a big way while Sen. James E. Murray (center) of Montana and Rep. Richard J. Welch of California listened silently at Washington June 8. Rep. Norton, chairman of house labor committee, was orating as a joint congressional committee reached a compromise on the controversial wage-hour measure.

Going Oriental

Newspaper headlines keep us all conscious of what's going on in foreign lands... too conscious perhaps; for they leave within our hearts doubts, fears, hatred... and bring back memories we shall ever carry with us of a war we knew too well.

But strange as it may seem, when I speak of "Going Oriental" I mean in the American manner and not as it is done in China. For believe it or not, Chop Suey and Chow Mein, two very famous Oriental dishes are not served in Chinese homes. These dishes are really American innovations—as American in character as Boston Baked Beans. BUT, because certain Chinese foods go to make them up, and because rice is served with them, they are known by most Americans as Chinese dishes.

Both Chop Suey and Chow Mein are excellent warm weather dishes. They may be quickly and easily prepared at home, or purchased ready to heat and serve. In addition, they are easily digestible, yet very nourishing—something most important in summer when lagging appetites put us in a frame of mind where we don't really know just what we do want to eat.

CHOP SUEY

3 tablespoons vegetable shortening,
1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup finely cut onions, 1 cup diced cooked chicken, or pork, 1 can bean sprouts, drained, 3 level tablespoons cornstarch, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar and 2 tablespoons soy sauce.

Heat shortening, add meat and onions, and fry quickly until well seared; but not browned. Add celery, water and salt, cover and boil four and many cooks use it regularly for seasoning soup and gravy.

BAKED STUFFED FISH

1 three-pound fish, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 3/4 cup chopped Brazil nuts, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons melted butter and 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Split and clean fish. Combine crumbs, Brazil nuts, seasonings, lemon juice and 2 tablespoons of melted butter. Mix well and stuff fish with mixture. Sew split edges together and place fish on oven-proof platter. Pour remaining butter over fish and bake in a hot oven (450° F.) about 15 minutes or until fish is tender. Remove from oven, surround with

GREEN GAGE MALLOWET

24 marshmallows, 1/2 cup cold water, 1 No. 2 1/2 can green gage plums (drained and stoned), 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 egg whites, 1 tablespoon sugar and green food coloring.

Place marshmallows and 2 tablespoons of water in saucepan. Heat over low flame, folding over and over until marshmallows are about half-melted. Then remove from flame and continue folding until mixture is smooth and fluffy. Cool. Meanwhile, whip plums to a pulp with rotary egg beater. Add remaining water and lemon juice, then combine plum mixture and cooled marshmallow mixture. Beat constantly. Fold in egg white mixture and add green coloring. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze at coldest degree, stirring twice, until firm but not hard.

BAKED FISH WITH GREEN GAGE MALLOWET

minutes. Combine cornstarch, pepper, sugar, soy sauce and 2 tablespoons cold water and mix until smooth. Add bean sprouts to cooked meat mixture, then add cornstarch mixture and heat thoroughly, stirring constantly to prevent burning. Serve piping hot with cooked rice, or with noodles if Chow Mein is desired.

Soy Sauce is always served with Chinese food. It has a definitely salty flavor.

Mix, Miss Wiren Greet Old Friends At Circus Grounds

The Tom Mix Circus, playing on Powell's lot, across the Washington avenue viaduct, near the Kingston Airport, under the auspices of Excelsior Hose Company, rolled in on the large motor vans early this morning and was completely set up by 11:30 o'clock.

While his crew of efficient workmen, all members of the big Mix family, labored at putting up the big top, and placing the menagerie cages, Tom Mix chatted with his friends who surrounded him outside his big motor car that has all the comforts and conveniences of a modern home.

Fox, Molyneux Visit Tom
Among those who visited with Mix were Captain Daniel E. Fox of the New York state police, who arrived in town last night and stayed over to see Tom, his close friend. Sheriff Abram P. Molyneux was on the circus lot early, too, to greet the country's most famous cowboy, who used to thrill 'em in the days of silent pictures with his horse Tony.

Miss Wiren Sees Friends
Mix was not the only host on the lot, though, because Doris Wiren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wiren, of Rilton, a rider with the show, was swarmed by friends, some former schoolmates at Kingston High School, and neighbors who were glad to see her again and who promised to be out under the big top in the audience this afternoon and tonight.

Starting time of the afternoon show was set at 2 o'clock and the evening performance at 8 o'clock. "I've traveled a lot in the past two years with the circus," Miss Wiren told a Freeman reporter. "and I like the life. But, it's always thrilling to get back to Kingston and see one's friends."

After the Kingston date, Miss Wiren will go to the steel pier at Atlantic City for a 15-week engagement with the Riding Hanefords. This troupe has chosen the summer spot instead of traveling with the circus.

Tom Mix, when he was interviewed, said, "I'm tickled to get back to this part of the country and to see my friends, Captain Fox and Sheriff Molyneux."

Tom Has a Memory
"Remember our interview on your last visit to Kingston," quipped the reporter, "and our discussion of national politics?"

"It's well I remember it, and I've had to take a back," responded the cowboy star. Mix was inclined to lean away from the Democratic trend then and was not backward in expressing his viewpoint, but today, considering himself a poor prognosticator held himself back to telling one political joke.

Here it is:
A hitch hiker thumbing a ride warned a motorist thusly: "If you don't give me a ride, I'll vote for him again."

With this we left Tom, promising to return for the afternoon show to see all of the features offered under the big top.

THEY'LL TAKE MARITAL PLUNGE

Sophisticatedly beautiful Anne Clark and John Roosevelt, son of the President, take their case on the diving board before a swim at Anne's Nantux, Mass., home. June 15 they'll take the matrimonial plunge there in ceremonies the President will attend.

Auto Victims' League
Cleveland, June 9 (AP)—The newly formed Auto Accident Victims' League was pledged today to seek state legislation appropriating a portion of gasoline tax funds to meet claims of persons injured in traffic accidents. Members are those who have been injured by automobiles. The organization proposed that all Cleveland automobiles be tested twice annually for mechanical imperfections. Joseph Kraiger, league founder and president, unemployed since he was injured four years ago, said "We believe damages to human lives should be paid before other claims upon the state."

Two Men Sought.
Phelps, N. Y., June 9 (AP)—Police in eight eastern states, warned by teletype today searched for two overall-clad men in a black sedan who yesterday noon locked up the cashier and two customers in the Phelps National Bank and escaped with $4,000 in cash.

Torrey Building
To Be Down July 1

Work of tearing down the three story brick building on Broadway adjoining the New York Telephone Company building is progressing. The building which formerly housed the S. L. Torrey furniture store and offices and apartments on the upper floors, was purchased several years ago by the New York Telephone Company when an expansion program was anticipating. Additions to the building were erected on O'Reilly street and the Broadway frontage remained intact.
Recently the company caused the premises to be vacated and contracted with the Coyle Wrecking and Lumber Company of Albany for razing the building.
Work is to be completed by July 1. The property is to be used for parking purposes.

Cash Boy's Body
Found Near Home

ransom, the authorities also found the shoebox in which Cash delivered the 1,500 bills of small denomination. It had been torn to pieces and hidden beneath a stone in a palmetto clump.
The locations of the body, the ransom and the shoebox indicated the locale of the entire crime never ranged farther than two miles from the Cash home. This circumstance apparently strengthened authorities in their belief McCall carried it out by himself.
He did not own an automobile.
No Federal Violation
Worley took charge of the prosecution as Hoover indicated no federal law apparently had been violated and the kidnaper should be tried in the state courts.
Whether he is charged with murder or kidnapping for ransom, he would face a possible death sentence upon conviction.
Sheriff Coleman said McCall bore generally a good reputation in Princeton and Sheriff Frank Hancock of Jasper, Fla., his birthplace described the suspect as "a boy who sometimes got into mischief, but never into any real trouble."

Several persons had been brought to FBI headquarters for questioning and later released.
Among them were M. F. Braxton, unemployed Princeton carpenter,
his son, James, and his son-in-law,
Ray Itaburn.
The serial numbers of the ransom bills were broadcast and the FBI offered to pay double the face value of the first 100 turned in. Rewards for apprehension of the kidnapers aggregated $5,000.
The "break" in the case came a few hours after the House in Washington had voted unanimously to appropriate $50,000 to finance the FBI investigation at the request of President Roosevelt.

Discovery of the Cash boy's body came exactly 10 days after the headless torso of kidnapped Peter Levine washed up on the rocky shore of Long Island Sound, not far from New Rochelle, N. Y.
The 12-year-old son of Murray Levine, New York attorney, had disappeared February 24 on his way home from school. Subsequently his father received ransom notes, the first of which demanded $60,000. The father attempted unsuccessfully to negotiate with the abductors, and publicly offered to pay $30,000 for his son's return.

Third Ransom Note.
The third ransom note by which McCall was trapped was delivered late at night on the Monday following the kidnapping.
With crowds milling about the Cash home, Sheriff Coleman said McCall brought the note to the father with the tale that he had picked it up from the floor where it apparently had been thrust beneath the door. The note was crumpled in the bait, the sheriff added, and it was this circumstance that first caused him to doubt McCall's story.

The gist of the note was that too many persons had been in the vicinity when Cash made a solitary drive over a route mapped in an earlier message to deliver the ransom and that the kidnaper wanted him to go out again with the money. On this trip Cash received a signal of blinking headlights and dropped the shoebox full of small bills in the highway.
Activities of the G-men late last night gave an indication a "break" was imminent. Hoover and a number of agents blocked off an area northwest of Princeton, apparently searching carefully by moving slowly toward the center.
Nearly an hour later, Hoover and several of his agents entered FBI headquarters at Miami with McCall.

Boy Stolen May 28
Two-headed "Skogge" was stolen from his bed about 10 p. m. May 28. His mother read to him a few minutes before leaving to help her husband close his general store next door. She said the child appeared apprehensive and begged her not to leave.
The parents found the boy missing when they returned home about 10:30 p. m. A hasty search of the neighborhood followed, during which Mrs. Cash remarked, "I know I'll never see my boy again."

A few minutes later the first ransom note was found at the home of Asbury Cash, the boy's uncle. It told where the second note could be found in a negro cabin occupied by John Emanuel.
Florida has a so-called "Lindbergh Law" enacted by the legislature in 1933.
The statute provides the death penalty upon conviction of kidnaping for ransom.
The death penalty clause has not yet been invoked in a Florida kidnaping case.

Jap Planes Blast
Three RR Stations

began May 28 was the Fung Keng Rubber Company, Canton's largest rubber works.
The Canton broadcasting station was saved from probable destruction by a bomb hitting the aerial and exploding in the air.
Seven planes chased and machine-gunned a group of motor lorries on the road from Hongkong and killed two drivers.
Bombs destroyed several trucks.

Still Clings to Faith
Hammond, La., June 9 (AP).—
Mrs. Joe Rushing, 56-year-old member of a religious sect who was bitten by a poisonous snake Sunday during a "faith demonstration", clung tenaciously today to the belief faith would cure her.
Mrs. Rushing, wife of a Crystal Springs, Miss., sawmill operator, was struck twice on her left hand
by a water moccasin.

Southern Senators
To Decide Whether To Filibuster Bill

Louisiana Democrat Calls Caucus to Decide Whether to Hold Up Action on Wage-Hour Bill

Washington, June 9 (AP)—Senator Ellender (D., La.), dissatisfied with a committee compromise on the wage-hour bill, called a caucus of southern senators today to determine whether they would filibuster against the legislation.

Ellender charged representatives of the American Federation of Labor with "interfering" with the work of the Senate-House conference committee.

The A. F. of L.'s influence, he said, had upset a compromise by which southerners hoped to prevent fixing a definite date for reaching the minimum pay goal of 40 cents an hour.

The compromise bill would put a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour into effect in all interstate industry immediately. This would advance to 30 cents an hour the next year. At that point industrial boards would be organized to determine the minimum for each industry.

At the end of seven years, however, all industries would have to advance their minimum to 40 cents an hour, except in cases where the boards found that requirement would curtail opportunities for employment.

Dislike 7-Year Clause
Ellender said the southerners were dissatisfied with this proposal because of the seven-year clause. His southern colleague on the conference committee, Senator Pepper (D., Fla.), said he had voted for the compromise in the belief it was the best that could be obtained.

Pepper said he would move to reconsider adoption of the compromise in an effort to bring the industry boards into existence at once. This would enable them to raise the wage minimum to 40 cents as quickly as feasible.

The committee, discussing maximum hours, adopted as a tentative working basis the proposition that no interstate industry should work its employees more than 44 hours without paying them time and a half for overtime.

This 44-hour scale would be in effect the first year, succeeded by a 42-hour scale the second year, and the ultimate goal of 40 hours
the third year and thereafter.
There could be exceptions to the 42 and 40-hour regulations, but not to the 44-hour week.

Says Dogs Killed His Goat.
Mr. Brazee of Rosendale Heights notified the sheriff's office this morning that dogs had killed one of his goats. Deputy Sheriffs Vredenburg, Brown and Tinnle, fully equipped with suitable "dog medicine," went out to investigate the matter.

St. John's Names
Parish Aid Heads

On Wednesday afternoon there was held at St. John's Parish House on Albany avenue, a joint meeting and an enthusiastic one, of the Parish Aid Society and The Monday Guild, both women's organizations of the church which have been well high invaluable to the church.

The meeting was called to consider the uniting of the two organizations into one, in order to eliminate overlapping of activities. It was the unanimous opinion of the group of women present representing both organizations that uniting their efforts was the wisest thing to do in aiding the work of the church, and since "Parish Aid" covers the women's activities the united group will now carry on under that title.

The following officers were chosen: President, Mrs. George N. Wood, vice-president, Mrs.
Raymond E. Craft; secretary, Mrs. Clara Norton Reed. No treasurer was chosen as this organization which is intended to include all women in the parish will have no dues. The regular meeting day hereafter will be the third Monday afternoon in each month, excepting July and August. There will, however, be another meeting on Monday afternoon, June 20, to which all women of the church are urged to be present.

The date for the annual turkey dinner of the Parish Aid was set for November 3. Several plans for the coming year's activities were considered before the meeting adjourned.

To Hold Dinner.

The Lawton Progressive Club will serve a fried chicken dinner at the home of Mrs. M. Miller, 37 Martin's Lane, on Thursday evening, June 16.
